

ST. CAT'S

CHERYL CALLEWAERT

eighty five

Cheri,
Betty we had a great time at the study
table this year so sneaky we were too. I'm glad of with the good. I'm glad of we got to know each other better friends,
Betty

Cheri,
I'm sure glad we met. I don't mean to sound generic
I really am glad!
Have fun! Love ya
Betty

After the final act has ended and the curtain slowly closes, one awaits the traditional applause of the audience, followed by pleasant chit-chat about the performance. Yet, this time, the audience remains perfectly still. Each person stares blindly forward, his gaze fixed upon the plush folds of the closed curtain. As they sit there, friend and foe alike, they unite as one in mind and body, all in awe and anticipation of what may happen next. Hesitating to think about the future, they reflect on their years gone by and come to appreciate all they have received.

The curtains finally open again, presenting the actors and actresses for their final bow; and the audience looks on with respect. Each person in the crowded auditorium sees himself on the stage: each individual is unique but part of a whole, bonded by shared past experience. Each comes to realize that, although a show on stage may be successfully presented in only one act, life cannot be experienced fully in this short time. With this in mind, members of the audience slip back into reality and regain consciousness of the present . . . realizing that, although the final act has ended, their lives have just begun.

Chin, it's been well 4 years of this School. No maybe 4 too many school is with you.
going to take care,
Cheng

SENIORS CELEBRATE WITH RECOGNITION

A group of students which labors through four years of hard work deserves at least one night of recognition. Many seniors received the credit they deserved, as they won numerous scholarships and awards. Area businessmen from corporations and organizations attended the graduation ceremony in order to present personally the special seniors with their awards. Yet, the seniors did not corner the award market. The class honored nine representatives from our community and school, who had served St. Catherine's with kindness and charity.

Then, the graduates celebrated in a finale of excitement. Prom night began with refreshments in the SCHS cafeteria. Chosen as the first school to arrive at the all-city post-prom party, the graduates organized their car parade and approached Memorial Hall at 9:00 p.m. The festive occasion continued all night, prom-goers celebrating the theme, "Sail On". At 6:00 a.m., the final curtain descended after a continental breakfast.

SENIORS TAKE THEIR FINAL BOW

The final days that the senior class shared together began in a spiritual way. The Revs. Russell Roetzer, Anthony Slosar, Leon Schneider, and Bruce Clanton celebrated the graduation mass along with students, parents and friends. Representatives from SCHS offered special gifts for the students during the liturgy, and graduating students presented a skit about their past years at St. Catherine's. Fr. Roetzer awarded eighteen seniors with the St. Catherine's Award, recognizing them for their outstanding service to the school. An evening of conversation and refreshments followed in the hall at Sienna Center.

Finally, the following night, graduation became a reality for the class. The night began with a humorous presentation by the class president, Andy Miller, and an entertaining address by faculty member, Mr. Mike Zelenski. Fr. Roetzer, the class advisor, announced the awards and scholarships won by many of the graduating seniors. Al McCauley topped off the evening by reading off every name with his own special style, and each senior walked forward proudly to receive his diploma.

Four years ended with two festive evenings — an appropriate finale to the comedy/drama that was high school.

“DINING ROOM” TOPS GREAT SEASON

The Players concluded their season with the entertaining drama “The Dining Room.” The play, directed by The Rev. Russell Roetzer, featured a creative, talented cast including Therese Kaplan, Rhett DuCharme, Christine Nelson, Christian LaBrasca, Kathy Frontier, Lee Smith, Paul Fervoy, and Renee Fucilla. Each actor and actress met a great challenge, as each played seven different characters. Among this cast of eight people, they had to create over forty different accents, gimmicks, and personalities. The play contained twelve scenes, each one depicting various situations which may occur in a dining room. From a wild birthday party to an emotional family meeting, everyone in the auditorium felt the drama expressed in the words and actions displayed. Each cast member radiated a sense of achievement, as the audience showed its appreciation at each performance. “The Dining Room” completed a year of well-rounded, family entertainment at St. Catherine’s.

- B: Time freezes as Billy (Paul Fervoy) faces a strange confrontation.
- C: Kate (Therese Kaplan) and Gordon (Chris LaBrasca) discuss their future “affairs.”
- D: Harvey (Rhett DuCharme) has funeral plans which interest Dick (Paul Fervoy).
- E: Begging to have a second chance, Meg (Kathy Frontier) pleads with her father, Jim (Rhett DuCharme).
- F: Dora (Renee Fucilla) patiently listens as Grandfather (Chris LaBrasca) stutters his command.

“GEORGE M!” DRAWS THE FINAL CURTAIN

Famous patriotic songs, such as “Over There”, “Yankee Doodle Dandy”, and “You’re a Grand Old Flag”, warmed the hearts of all who attended this year’s spring musical, “George M!”. This story about the “man who owned Broadway” depicted the life of George Michael Cohan: his loves, his successes and his failures. The musical opened with the lead character, played by Andy Miller, inviting the audience to join the Players in taking a closer look at the story of this important man. From his early childhood to his last performance on Broadway, George and the other characters sang and danced through the scenes of his life in performances enjoyed by all. With the closing of this musical, many seniors experienced their last onstage performance at SCHS. The close relationships that developed within the cast gave superior quality to each of the six performances and made it difficult to end the final act. The Players’ production of “George M!” combined old lyrical favorites and new, exciting choreography that pleased one and all.

- A: The cast and pit band join together to rehearse the patriotic scenes of this year’s musical.
- B: Jerry Cohan (Dave Organ) and Nellie Cohan (Beth Kramer) give their rendition of “Musical Moon”.
- C: The four boys (Dave Organ, Jerry Potter, Matt Kroes, Tony Black) perform a hit which may take them all the way to Broadway.
- D: George M. Cohan (Andy M. Miller) enchants the audience with his portrayal of the “Man who owns Broadway”.
- E: Prompting the response, “I’ll take the girl,” Josie Cohan (Becky Shack) steals the show.
- F: Agnes Cohan (Shelly Schoene) and George Cohan (Andy Miller) discuss their future, as they rest in the park.

CHRISTMAS CAROL STAGES COMEBACK

"Lights, camera, action!" certainly meant something special to the cast and crew of A Christmas Carol: Scrooge and Marley:

This year marked its fourth success. Although repetition suggests boredom and monotony, the opposite proved true in this case. The actors uniquely portrayed the characters and gave the audience a realistic view of the imaginary tale. Both on stage and off, the players were exceptional.

The audiences ranged from young, bright-eyed children to mature adults. During a special preview of the play, grade-school students gave encouragement to the St. Catherine's players with their applause and expressive appreciation of the actors' and actresses' "true", professional talent. And, as the curtain went down after each performance, the hearts of many people were touched with the love and good cheer of Christmas.

THE FALL PLAYERS DEBUT WITH MYSTERY

The St. Catherine's Players opened the 1984-1985 season with a touch of mystery. "The Penultimate Problem of Sherlock Holmes" lit up the John Foster Auditorium this past October. Special lighting and sound effects helped to add suspense to this Holmes/Watson mystery.

The story takes place at the well-known living quarters of Sherlock Holmes: 221 B Baker Street. In his apartment, Holmes participates in a seance among the spirits. Close acquaintances of Holmes appear and warn him of his unescapable date with death.

After affirming this foresight with a spiritual medium, Holmes prepares to face his avenger. Through careful calculations and experimentations, he succeeds in outsmarting his creator, turning this potentially fatal adventure into a shocking victory.

SUMMER SEASON SHOUTS "LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION"

As expected, the fourteenth annual summer season proved successful once again. It opened with the comedy, "A Thousand Clowns," directed by alumnus Jim Rasmussen. This play provided fun and entertainment, especially to the younger audience, featuring Chuckles the Chipmunk and various other talented characters.

The second play, "Dr. Cook's Garden," directed by T. Andrew Bruett, showed that effective plays do not always fall into the category of comedy. This suspenseful melodrama left the audience spellbound; and, as a special treat, it starred Father Roetzer as Dr. Cook.

Rounding out the season, Nathan Buege directed "Two of the most intriguing plays ever written for the stage: 'The American Dream' and 'The Hundred and First.'"

In general, the SCHS Players completed yet another unforgettable summer. While many other students practiced and perfected laziness, they dedicated themselves to entertaining the public.

- A: Bea (Sharon Dziengel), Dora (Amy Kerr), and Jimmy (Andy Bruett) catch up on the latest gossip.
- B: Frank Stockstill (Andy Miller) gives Stockstill, Junior (Rob May) the helping hand that he needs.
- C: Nick Burns (Tony Frontier) and Murray Burns (Nathan Buege) do their rendition of "That's My Baby".
- D: Jimmy (Andy Bruett) mourns over the death of Dr. Cook (Fr. Roetzer).
- E: After realizing that his food has been poisoned, Dr. Cook (Fr. Roetzer) is overcome with fright.
- F: Elias (Kurt Watson) wishes Jimmy (Andy Bruett) well, as Dora (Amy Kerr) consoles Bea (Sharon Dziengel).
- G: Two policemen (Rhett DuCharme and Dave Mueller) look disgustedly at Frank Stockstill (Andy Miller).

GIRLS KICK OFF A NEW SEASON

This year, a new spring sport arose, along with the many other activities at St. Catherine's. The girls of SCHS used their strength and ability for this new sport. With the help of Coach Hietpas, the members of the 1985 Girls' Soccer Team learned teamwork, determination, and the importance of never giving up. It took many tough practices and long hours to strengthen the team, but in the end they finished strongly. Although statistics showed that they experienced an unsuccessful season, the team exposed great development after each game. Some players started the season knowing nothing about soccer, and ended up with the understanding of team spirit needed to win or just play a great game. Winning their last game, the Girls' Soccer Team proved that practice makes perfect.

BOYS REACH TOURNAMENTS

As the warm weather of spring approached, the boys' tennis team sweated its way through long, hard practices. The team was led by Number-One Singles, Jason Caspers, and Number Two Singles, Tony Guinn, and Numbers One and Two Doubles, consisting of Mike Oteman and Joe VanBree and Ryan Fuhrman and Chuck Hejny, respectively. They formed a strong team that contended with other Metro Conference teams. Placing sixth in the State Tournament and third in the Metro Conference Tournament, the team challenged other strong teams and proved its ability to win.

EXPERIENCE PAYS OFF

After a very promising season, the girls' softball team showed much improvement and hope for a winning future. The hardworking girls deserve a lot of credit for their never-ending enthusiasm.

The returning letterman, Wendy Sackman, Melanie Eland, Cindy Bradburn, and Colleen Hubbard brought competitive and aggressive action to this year's active playing. Besides receiving acknowledgement as captain, Wendy Sackman also received the award for the Most Valuable Player. Overall, the girls' softball team displayed good sportsmanship and prize-winning St. Catherine's spirit.

BOYS' BASEBALL LUNGES TOWARD SUCCESS

The SCHS baseball team, with only 4 returning lettermen, banded together to form a well-balanced team. Without the experience of past years, the players tested their skills at various positions, so as to find the area in which each individual's strength lay. Hoping to reach the goal of an invitation to the State Tournament, the team steadily improved its record throughout the season. The boys, through hard work and dedication, developed into a team that presented a challenge to other schools. Though the season ended with a disappointing loss in the State Tournament, the Angels managed to give their all and reach their goals.

DEDICATION PAYS OFF

After one of the longest sport seasons, Coach Poulson boasted proudly of the fact that fifty-one girls survived. With only four returning seniors, the team consisted mainly of underclassmen, who carried the brunt of the team's success. Throughout the course of the season, many individuals set school records, such as Margaret Fralich, Jenny Gross, and April Hicks. The high point of the season occurred when the Angel Girls unexpectedly won the Salem Invitational for the second year in a row. Every team has its individual superstars and, without exception, the girl's track team had several. First of all, Captain Amy Francetic and long jump State Champion, Margaret Fralich, exemplified the stamina and high-priorities of talented athletes. Their hard work, dedication, and determination over the past four years on the track team paid-off. As a result of their example, the entire team reached many goals with success and pride. If they continue their dedication and hard work, it seems unavoidable that the future of the track team will display strength, spirit and success.

QUALITY OVERRULES QUANTITY

The Boys' track team accomplished a high level of quality and depth on the track this season. They experienced trouble spots in field events and hurdles, but made up for it in distances and sprints. Coach Scheller stated, concerning the '84-'85 track season, "... the experience gained by our underclassmen on the Varsity level this season should allow us to contend for the Metro Conference title next year." Adding to the spirit, captain Jim Montalbano led the fifty-two squad members, including nine returning lettermen, to a successful track season.

GIRLS SHOOT FOR FINALS

Carrying on the tradition of fun and fame, the members of the St. Cat's Girl's Basketball Team enjoyed a season of success. Falling only two games short of capturing the State title, the girls showed their dedication by working continuously until the final buzzer sounded. Throughout their traumas and triumphs, the team experienced the unity of a closely knit family and worked to maintain this special understanding, both on and off the court. As a result, they learned to follow each other's instincts automatically and systematically.

The girls' success as a team arose from a collaboration of individual efforts to reach specific goals and to fulfill potentials. They proved to be worthy of their accomplishments and undoubtedly enjoyed the trouble it took to attain them.

TEAM TOPS GOALS

All of the boys' basketball teams this year, led by our state-championship varsity team, raised the level of school spirit at SCHS and provided an example of the meaning of sportsmanship.

For the varsity squad, coached by Mr. Bob Letsch, the second-place finish in the Metro Conference fulfilled one of the season's goals, which was to place in the top three. But this aim was far surpassed, when successful tournament play led St. Catherine's to a WISAA Championship, our first since 1977. As the year progressed, the team improved its defensive game and, offensively, became one of Coach Letsch's best overall shooting teams. Just as important, the varsity players became good friends and, as a result, worked well together.

Thanks to the combined effort of players and coaches, who spent countless hours perfecting their skills, the entire St. Catherine's community was given a great season of entertainment, which reinforced our pride in the school.

SQUADS THRILL CROWD WITH NEW TWISTS

The 1984-85 Varsity Cheerleading Squad gained a sparkling new addition to highlight the sporting events at our school: male cheerleaders. This change promoted spirit in the crowds and in the entire community, while presenting a challenge to the experienced female counterparts. The squad toiled through many hot summer practices, which proved well-worth the effort, however, as it received many complimentary remarks from the fans. The varsity squad also attended cheerleading camp, at which it won numerous ribbons and trophies. The members learned a multitude of daring, spine-tingling stunts, which thrilled the crowds and increased the excitement.

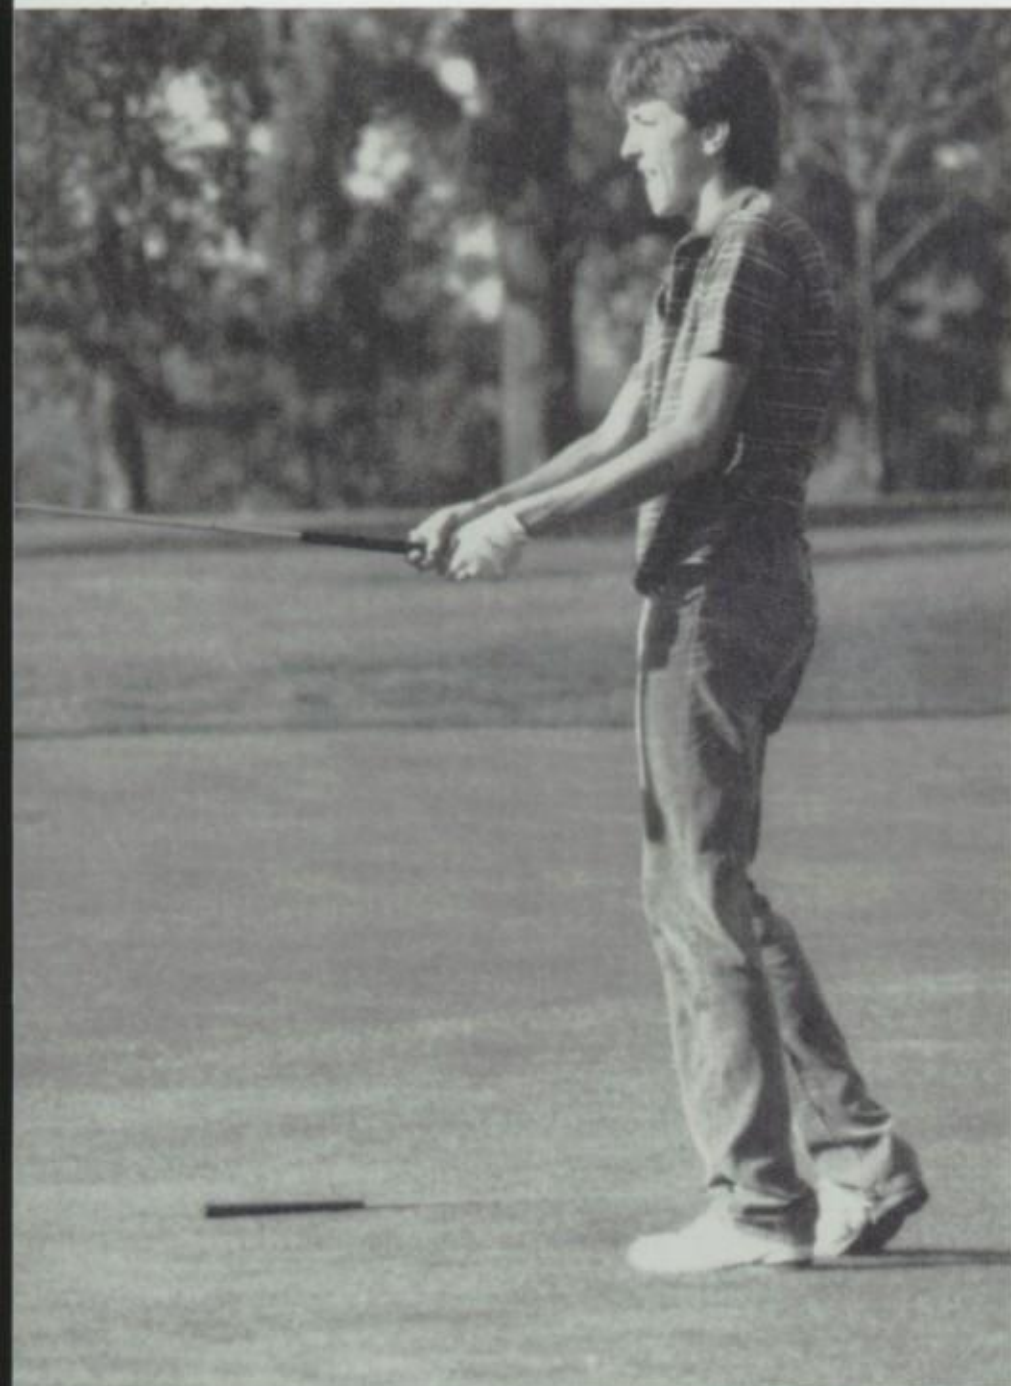

The pom-pon squad sparkled during the entire season, as well. Although only ten letterwomen returned this year to the twenty-four girl group, the girls coordinated each routine with unity and style. They worked hard, not only to entertain the crowds, but also in preparation for various competitions. As a matter of fact, they received a third-place trophy at a pom-pon competition in Eau Claire. The girls choreographed their routines to popular hits, which kept our feet tapping and their faces smiling. While attending a special camp during the summer, they learned new techniques and routines to excite the crowd.

The St. Catherine's vs. Park High School basketball game highlighted the season, as both the pom-pon and cheerleading squads combined with the Park squads to perform various routines and cheers. As the squads met and organized their performance several weeks before the game, they enjoyed sharing their ideas and talents with the opposing team's squads. The cheerleading and pom-pon squads presented an exciting performance at each sporting event and increased our school pride.

GOLFERS STRIKE VICTORY

This year, the Golf Team experienced victory after victory and ended the season as conference champs with a 12-2 record. Returning lettermen Pete Eitel, Dave Filippone, and captain, Doug Albregts, led the team to place second in State, as well as in regional play. Varsity sophomores, Todd Barina and Tony Paar, added potential to the growing team. With all of these assets, the team offered an entertaining season, the results of which were well deserved.

ANGELS SWING INTO ACTION

From start to finish, the Girls' Tennis Team performed with outstanding effort. They "served" a stunning record of 9 wins and 7 losses. With the leadership of five returning lettermen and team captain, Anna Alfano, the team finished in the top six in both the county and conference meets. Their power and determination provided excitement at every match. The Girls' Tennis Team produced a hit season of entertainment for one and all.

ANGELS RUN WITH QUALITY

This season, the Angel girls jumped to a successful start. Unfortunately, with the arrival of the cold weather, injuries and illness occurred. Even Coach Scheller got into the act, leading the top of the injury list with his fall immediately preceding the Angel Invitational. Despite this drawback, they won the invitational with a first-rate performance.

Although they only had ten members on the team, what they lacked in quantity they made up for in quality. The dynamic duo of Amy Francetic and Jenny Gross received special recognition by being named to the All-County First Team. Captain Sharon Dziengel and MVP Amy Francetic encouraged their teammates to have faith in themselves and to do their best throughout the course of the season. Jenny Gross received the Outstanding Runner Award for her star performance at the State meet, where she finished fifth.

CROSS COUNTRY CONQUERS COMPETITION

The Boys' Cross-Country Teams raced into a season of pride and accomplishment. The seven returning lettermen, including Kim Sawasky, the captain, exemplified true success by beating 58 teams. With only 3 losses interrupting their victories, the team proved its ability to beat the best. Acting as devoted understudies, the JV team won the Metro Conference for the first time since 1970. Most outstanding runner, John Polzin, entered St. Cat's history books as one of only three undefeated state champions; the first since 1971. With an eye-catching record, the Angel Boys' Cross-Country finished on top.

DETERMINATION HIGHLIGHTS THE SEASON

The enthusiastic, young soccer team proved very eager to learn. Exerting outstanding effort and skill, they gained a great amount of experience and increased their confidence and aggressiveness, in addition to thoroughly enjoying themselves.

The three captains, Matt Meisner, Todd Kinzer and Mike Amter, demonstrated leadership throughout the season. The most improved player, junior John Zlevor, deserves our admiration and respect for his continuous display of determination. The soccer team matured this year by overcoming its weaknesses and is now prepared for next season's fight.

THE ANGELS ENTERTAIN WITH EFFORT

The Angels started the season with a couple of promising victories. At first, the team encountered little competition; but, as the year progressed, it faced more challenging opponents. The talented teams demanded concentration and determination from the Angel effort.

The hopes for a winning season dimmed as the team lost several games by a touchdown in the closing seconds. Nevertheless, the Angels did capture a few victories to keep the St. Catherine's spirit alive. Completing his first year as head coach, Bill Drummond believed that the quickness of the team proved an asset. Also, the senior leadership carried them through the hardships and into the glory. Many supportive fans enjoyed a fine season of entertainment. The unending effort of the team, led by co-captains, Dave Mrazek and John Small, paid off, as the following awards reveal: The Jim Feest Award (MVP)-Slade Smith; the MVP lineman award-Steve Snyder; and the Hustle Award-John Kulas and Kurt Swomia. Indicative of the team's talent and improvement was the selection of senior John Kulas at the position of defensive end for the All-Metro Conference team.

KITCHEN AND MAINTENANCE ADD "PIZZAZZ"

This year, Kitchen and Maintenance kept everyone happy with warm rooms and a variety of food that seemed to please everyone.

The Maintenance staff did its best to repair broken equipment and keep the rooms sparkling clean. They also brightened the halls with newly painted sun-yellow walls.

Sister Agnes, as usual, added to the cleanliness of the halls, as she never hesitated to bend down and pick up a scrap of paper or some annoying trash. Her friendly smile and caring personality enlightened and inspired all of the students at St. Catherine's.

After having slaved over the stoves all morning, the Kitchen ladies' hard work finally paid off during lunch, as the students and faculty came through the line with smiles on their faces. They added a new variety of food to tempt the taste-buds and gave boring brown-bag lunches a little pizzazz.

A FOCUS ON FINE ARTS

The faculty of the Fine Arts Department proved to be the major factor in bringing art to life at St. Catherine's. While continually adding new and innovative dimensions to their areas of study, they also provided encouragement and individual attention for each student. In the areas of theater, music, and dance, as well as art, the sharing of talents and time opened up a whole new horizon of experiences and possibilities for the future "fame" of St. Catherine's.

SOCIAL STUDIES AND PHY. ED PRODUCE STARS

Although geography and government don't generally find their way onto the students' "Favorite Class" list, St. Catherine's Social Studies Department offers a wide variety of classes from which students can choose.

Geography gave students a broader view of the world and a taste of cultures different from their own. In addition, "Third World" spent time exploring the poorer nations' religious and political backgrounds. Similar classes, such as government and economics, gave students a realistic understanding of our changing world.

While some students racked their brains studying historical backgrounds, other used the resource of another department, Physical Education, as an outlet for their energies.

Discarding the common notions of sweaty gym suits, aching muscles, moldy towels, and cold showers, this department offered a new outlook on a stagnant situation. This year, students and their friends danced away their blues to the energetic tunes of a "Jane Fonda Workout!" record.

Furthermore, for those solely interested in strengthening and toning, weight-training provided specially regulated programs geared toward shaping up.

SCIENCE SPARKLES WITH EXCITEMENT

All of the department's teachers combined the elements needed to educate and expand the students' knowledge of their physical world. Through a variety of experiments, as well as lecture and textbook study, the department introduced the students of St. Catherine's to a "Broadway" of interests, which may stimulate them to pursue careers in a variety of scientific areas.

MATH RETURNS FOR AN ENCORE

The Math Department, back for another award-winning season, made great strides in expanding its talents to new areas. The veteran cast proudly presented the newcomer, the up and coming young star, Joe Clazmer, who immediately became a heartbreaker. Besides providing the students of SCHS with a large selection of classes, the department also worked on creating a college-prep program. The students proved that they actually had learned something by receiving numerous honors from several math contests. As one "critic" put it, "The teachers provide the students with a good background for college; and with the addition of diversified classes, they have more of a selection to choose from."

ENGLISH MAINTAINS EXCELLENCE

In an attempt to maintain the tradition of excellence, St. Catherine's English Department offered many classes to suit student needs and to bring out new ideas. The classes varied from basic English to Composition, from Classics in Literature to Critical Thinking. Students learned various skills, such as, memorization, essay-writing, analytical thinking, and creative questioning. With the variety of talent found among the SCHS teachers, the students benefitted from many different teaching techniques. Simply put, St. Catherine's English Department offered a class for everyone.

OFFICE AND LIBRARY PERFORM WITH PROFICIENCY

The library took on a different look with the arrival of our new librarian, Mrs. Stasik. She spent numerous hours revising the contents of the entire library; and, as a result, many students effectively utilized the various materials for research and study.

The office staff experienced another term of smooth efficiency. Completing her second year as assistant principal in charge of academics, Sister Jane Weiss worked with the other staff members to complete a variety of tasks and create a pleasant learning atmosphere for all students.

BUSINESS DEPARTMENT STRESSES MOTIVATION

Helping to prepare the SCHS students for the business and career-seeking world, the Business Department gave the motivation and skill needed to assist them in acquiring special job techniques. Classes such as Accounting, Typing, Business Law and Shorthand served to aid students for future use in related fields. Besides helping students learn business skills, there existed a program called Co-op. Headed by Mrs. Craanen, this program enabled students to hold down part-time jobs after school. It also gave them work credit. Because of programs such as these, the Business Department enabled students to train their minds, adjust to new situations, and prepare for the challenge of a career-oriented world.

GUIDANCE CATERS TO STUDENTS' NEEDS

Perseverance, patience, and understanding are just a few of the outstanding qualities of the SCHS Guidance Department. Three counselors serving 800 students may seem like an impossible task, but our well-trained staff has proved itself by helping each individual, from schedule changes and personal problems to finding jobs and the college that is best suited for them. The Guidance Department plays a large role in helping the students through their years at SCHS.

RELIGION PLAYS THE LEADING ROLE

St. Catherine's Religion Department played an important role in the curriculum. Providing a variety of courses for the students, the department challenged them to broaden their understanding of religion and deepen their commitment to Christian love. The sharing of concern for people worldwide, as well as for members of the St. Catherine's community, created a stronger bond between teachers and students.

ADMINISTRATION PROMOTES DEVELOPMENT

The cast of the "Administrative Players" underwent a change this year with the addition of Mr. Joseph Peschges who won the lead roll of "Principal", after beating out several other "possibles" during the auditions. A man with a broad range of talent, not the least of which is his sense of humor, Mr. Peschges was welcomed wholeheartedly to the St. Catherine's family. He, along with the other leaders of our school, oversaw several major projects, among them an evaluation of graduation requirements. After considering which courses would be most advantageous for college-bound students, who comprise the majority of the student body, the administration up-dated the required curriculum. Also of concern was the ongoing Capital Fund Drive, the proceeds from which will be used to renovate such school facilities as the library, science laboratories and auditorium. With its new "star", this has indeed been a "hit season" for the administration of St. Cat's.

CREWS START THE SHOW

Many crews successfully filled the supporting roles in each Players' production. Each crew, staffed with hard working students, struggled for hours to make the props, costumes and scenery to add professionalism to the SCHS stage. The costume crew provided the handiwork which threaded each cast into a tightly-woven unit of performers. As the props and stage crews constructed scenery to set an appropriate environment, the light crew highlighted each performance. The promotion of each play continued, as the Publicity crew painted the town with posters, leaflets, and buttons, inviting everyone to see the shows. All in all, the crews supported the SCHS Players and made their entire season complete.

SKI CLUB JUMPS HIGHER

Skiing has grown from a rarity, enjoyed only by the well-to-do, to a popular winter sport enjoyed by many. SCHS students provided evidence of this by their participation in the Ski Club.

The season was short this year, because of uncooperative weather. Nonetheless, several short trips were made to Wilmot Mountain; and not even below-zero temps could completely chill the enthusiasm of those avid skiers who joined the excursion to Indianhead in Upper Michigan. The fun during the long ride on the famous Seeger bus provided adequate compensation.

HOSTESS SERVES A SMILE

Famous for their "down-home hospitality", the Hostess Club received many invitations to provide its services for Saint Catherine's and St. Catherine's affiliated functions. From organizing workers to pouring coffee, the Hostess Club displayed its fine homemaking finesse. In addition to serving dinner for the boys' and girls' sports' banquets, planning help for class reunions, and offering its aid for various community events, the Hostess Club also sponsored a doughnut day.

MUSIC HARMONIZES WITH STUDENT LIFE

The Music Department sent a happy tune singing throughout the halls of St. Catherine's. Various groups joined together to harmonize attractive melodies, which kept SCHS students' feet tapping all year. The Pep Band raised the spirit of the crowds at varsity football and basketball games throughout the season. They also performed at pep assemblies and participated in the Very Special Arts Festival at UW-Parkside, at which they played for the mentally-retarded and handicapped students from the area. In addition, the Wisconsin Solo/Ensemble Music Contest provided an opportunity for students to exhibit their musical talents in a competitive atmosphere. The department also continued the fine tradition of presenting concerts that appealed to the parents, friends, and teachers of all the participants. In general, the Music Department offered a variety of musical opportunities for all of the students at St. Catherine's.

FOREIGN CLUBS EXPAND THEIR HORIZONS

The Foreign Language Clubs have expanded greatly over the years at St. Catherine's. Along with the increase in membership, the addition of the International Club, formed by the exchange students of St. Cat's, offered students many additional opportunities. Besides learning about the customs, characteristics, and cultures of foreign countries, the students enjoyed the privilege of talking to the exchange students and thus gained "first-hand" knowledge of other countries' differences.

Furthermore, in addition to their weekly meetings, the clubs also combined efforts and spent a great deal of time and effort planning and organizing activities among the three clubs. In the fall, the German Club challenged the Spanish Club to an "intense" game of volleyball, from which the Spaniards walked away with the first-place trophy. Also, each club had a Halloween party. During the Christmas season, members of the German and Spanish Clubs carolled throughout Racine, while the French students decorated their room with French memorabilia. Finally, to top off the season, each group had a Christmas party, at which it attempted to imitate the traditions of their respective countries. The Foreign Language Clubs enjoyed an educational and enlightening year and anxiously await the years to come.

NYRFPTC SPREADS SPIRIT

The Not-Yet-Ready-For-Prime-Time-Christians had a wonderful turnout this year. At the first meeting, attendance topped 100. Fr. Bruce Clanton and Anne Frontier, organizers of NYRFPTC, formed a kazoo band in an attempt to employ the minds as well as the bodies of the eager members. However, the band remained only a lost idea, leaving members with but a t-shirt and a memory. Centered around Angel Alley, NYRFPTC developed a talent for conveying parables in a current, meaningful way to the student body and recruited singers to add spirit to the masses. Daily masses, hosted by Angel Alley, helped students find restful solace in even the most hectic day.

SWORD EXPRESSES STUDENTS' IDEAS

The "Sword", St. Catherine's literary magazine, gave students a place to express their emotions, desires, and fantasies. For the past four years, Ms. Karen Levendusky, an English teacher at SCHS, has educated and led each one of the creative contributors in producing many interesting issues. Most of the artists and writers represented in the "Sword" participated in Ms. Levendusky's Writing Workshop class. In addition to working for a grade, the students gave others a refreshing view of their inner selves. The "Sword" opened minds of both students and faculty, through written expression of past experiences and dreams of tomorrow.

LANCE AND SHIELD MEET DEADLINES

Both the Lance and Shield staffs worked diligently to meet their deadlines and to offer SCHS students the best possible literary works. The Lance staff made up of mainly inexperienced members, made it possible to have a yearbook that displays the true spirit of our school. Through hard work and dedication, the staff managed to continue the fine tradition of the St. Catherine Lance. The Shield staff, the largest in 6 years, produced creative articles that entertained the entire student body. Each of the six issues provided an inside look at the news in our school and interesting activities in our community. For the first time, the staff sponsored a record hop which increased their funds and enabled them to keep our students well-informed.

CLUBS RAISE MONEY

Both Monogram Clubs achieved many goals that benefitted the school and the community. The Boys' and Girls' Monogram Clubs joined together to sell candy during the lunch periods and at basketball games. In addition, they sponsored the Christmas Food Basket collection and worked many hours to gather and distribute the large quantity of food and gifts provided by the students and faculty of St. Cat's.

Separately, the girls sold Angel sweatshirts to help curb the cost of installing new lockers in the girls' gym. The boys pooled their "brains and brawn" to challenge the male faculty in a competitive game of basketball.

Both of the Monogram Clubs proved to be worthy of the pride traditionally associated with such a group of individuals.

SAC AND NHS AIM HIGH

Both the Student Affairs Committee and the National Honor Society actively lead the school through numerous exciting activities. Although only elected students held specific positions in each group, all students participated in the events sponsored by them. SAC started the year with a bang by organizing the "sweet dreams" shared by all during the fun-filled Homecoming week. Also, Angel Day again warmed our school with friendly words and romance.

The National Honor Society added that special touch-of-class to the school by recognizing outstanding students who display the qualities of character, leadership, scholarship, and service. The students and their families celebrated a special mass, which included the induction of the new members. The NHS members, along with many other students, took part in the St. Rose Meal Program through which volunteers helped to serve the needy in our community.

The members of the Student Affairs Committee and the National Honor Society greatly contributed to the success of this past school year by creating good times, which will remain memories shared by all.

SENIORS EXIT STAGE RIGHT

From their timed entrance onto the St. Catherine's stage four years ago, to their encore presentation of Student Life-Senior Style, the class of '85 proved determined to make its performance a hit. Throughout their Freshmen year, the present Seniors concentrated mainly on establishing their own identities. As the years progressed, however, and their confidence grew, these "young hopefuls" forgot their stage fright, emerged from their protective cocoons, and took on the challenges of the real world. Consequently, Junior year presented a class united by a common objective - Self-Survival of stress, society, and senior syndrome. Along with this typical self-defensive attitude, arose the desire to fully understand and develop oneself. With great concentration and strength, these "Born Again" students rehearsed their final act to perfection - Senior Year, Act IV. As expected, the year brought on many new and beneficial experiences. Classes such as Life's Problems, Critical Thinking, and Composition stretched students' imaginations and expanded their awareness and understanding of life in general. Furthermore, extracurricular activities and projects urged participation and school spirit, which needless to say, the seniors took advantage of. Their group efforts benefitted the entire Racine community as well as the St. Catherine's student body. Finally, as the long awaited Graduation Ceremony drew near, the Seniors took time out of their busy schedules to reflect on the "Best Years" of their lives: Close relationships had grown, inimitable memories created, and prejudices forgotten. After four years of physical, spiritual, and mental growth, the Senior class continued its journey together until the very end, working, praying, and above all celebrating. As the numbers exchanged hands, the well-wishes offered to all, and the hugs shared with special friends, the "Adults" of the class of '85 started off to try their hand at independence, yet vowed never to forget the vital role that St. Catherine's friends, faculty, and family played in their lives.

JUNIORS SEEK STARDOM

Throughout the years, the Juniors, both directly and indirectly, have inspired St. Catherine's, and this year proved to be no exception. Besides displaying a first-rate performance throughout the Homecoming activities, they revealed their inner spirit by introducing many new ideas and outlooks on student life.

In addition, the Junior class projected a great amount of enthusiasm that, in turn, earned the students' and teachers' respect and admiration. While preparing for their last year at St. Catherine's, the junior class developed a sense of maturity and pride for themselves, as well as others.

Overall, the junior class added a lot of "pizzazz" to the school and will continue to impress all with their special "St. Catherine's style."

SOPHOMORES HIT A HIGH NOTE

The sophomores opened their second year with cheerful smiles and inspiring confidence. Casting away their miniature and timid freshman image, they flourished into an energetic, independent class. Many events throughout the year prompted unity as well as uniqueness. During Homecoming, sophomore enthusiasm rose to great heights. For one shining moment, the sophomores dominated the day with the girls' tug-of-war victory. Using this specific style, the sophomores remained involved in school activities. The JV Football Team, composed mostly of sophomores, proved its interest in making the Angel name something of which to be proud. In the bright light of St. Catherine's, the Class of 1987 shines clearly.

FRESHMEN TAKE THE STAGE

The first day of school suggests boredom for some; but for the freshmen, it meant a whole new beginning, a time for new friends and exciting surroundings. The freshmen class showed exceptional school spirit from pep rallies to football games and basketball games. They exhibited a great amount of participation and spirit in all activities offered. The freshmen class together shared good times and bad, and they grew because of it. As an extension of this unity, they eagerly await their years to come.

SQUAD RULED A SUCCESS

Cheerleading evolved into a coed term once again at St. Catherine's. The 1984-85 squad consisted of eight guys and eight girls. As a trial year for the program, the boys did not follow the same guidelines as the girls. The guys were to choose whether they would cheer for basketball, football, or for the entire season, as the girls do. The football squad ended up with a ratio of 8 to 3, whereas the basketball season held better odds at 8 to 6. This split occurred because several of the boys played football and were unable to participate in cheerleading during the football season.

The squad met throughout the entire summer two to three days a week, each practice lasting two hours. The captain, Margaret Fralich, held all the practices at her house, for lack of a better practicing area. At first, the moves seemed awkward for the boys, but they hung in there. The girls got frustrated, too, but their patience prevailed.

After a long period of hard work, lots of experimentation, and plain good luck, they topped off the summer at a cheerleading camp for a week. The hard work all paid off, when they were awarded several ribbons and placed in the Grand Champ Finals. Camp was very beneficial and lots of fun as well. When the season finally started, it seemed like they cheered everyday. Between games and practices, the sixteen squad members became very close and their friendships were strengthened. There were ups and downs to the season and the mounts, too. They had a couple of scrapes and bruises from the experimental stunts and pyramids, but more success than failure. They celebrated the victories and mourned over the defeats, but the season was a success for all involved.

BOYS TAKE STATE

Varsity Basketball Coach Bob Letsch waited six years to fulfill a fantasy, the dream of coaching his team to win the state championship. Mr. Letsch's wish came true due to the outstanding effort and tenacity of the team. The team really came through when the "chips were down" and transformed themselves from the underdog into the victor, leaving no spoils behind. Dave Mueller's impeccable shooting, as well as the lightening fast hands of Scott Wilson, led the Angels to execute top-notch teamwork, which applied to their lofty goal. Several members of the team were honored on the All-Tournament Team at State: Dave Mueller; Scott Wilson; and Mike Rogers. The quality of the team was unquestionable, containing a strong, eager bench, as they emerged State Champs.

STUDENTS JOIN TOGETHER IN FAITH

Busy SCHS students contended daily with the pressures of homework, exams, meetings, practices, rehearsals, and deadlines of all sorts. Angel Alley allowed them to escape these everyday stresses, at least momentarily.

A small room set aside on the second floor, Angel Alley provided "Angel Atmosphere" through many activities. Students could attend daily prayer services or occasional Reconciliation Days to help them keep in touch with their faith. At any time, the room was open, and either the Rev. Bruce Clanton or Anne Frontier would be on hand to counsel or just listen. Students escaped to Angel Alley to relax, unwind, concentrate, and prepare to face the wider world again.

STUDENTS CAPTURE THE TIMES

It seems as if every time one comes close to catching up with the current fads, accumulating all of the new products on the market, and playing all of the "fun and different" games, some genius invents yet another and crushes one's hope of becoming a fully "new and improved" American consumer. One can easily see that the supply of innovative merchandise and updated world news remains inexhaustible. As long as humans exist to make and take it, new news, views, and doos will survive.

The 1984-1985 school year proved to be no different. As with other years, the students at St. Catherine's leaped at the chance to show off their ability to keep up with the "Signs of the Times."

In the area of fashion, the favorites consisted of Forenza outerwear, colored jelly bangels, and Guess clothing. The new doo, the infamous Bob, found its way onto the heads of many St. Catherine's students.

For those more interested in fun, rather than fashion, there came into play a game called Hackysack, in which players kick a little beanbag-like object back and forth.

On a larger, nationwide scale, the election reigned as top-notch news. The students ran their own polls and watched step-by-step as Ronald Reagan captured the vote of his audience for yet another term.

In the area of music, three groups in particular, Band-Aid, USA for Africa, and The Northern Lights, combined musical talent with genuine concern for the welfare of others to compose special songs and albums in order to aid those less fortunate than themselves. These singers and songwriters, along with record producers, store owners, adults, and children, dedicated both time and money in an effort to bring a bit of hope and joy to the hungry and homeless. In addition, Wham, U-2, and Prince received a great deal of attention worldwide as musical masters.

As expected, carried over by popular demand, the Cabbagepatch doll succeeded in spreading "good cheer" to many little boys and girls, while simultaneously emptying parents' pocketbooks. Darling, don't you agree?

In any case, regardless of the economy or increasing desire to rid the world of these new-fangled and increasingly complicated world events, the Signs of the Times will always survive and continue receiving great attention in the years to come.

PATRON DRIVE PROVES PROFITABLE

Once again, the Patron Drive Committee, along with the entire school, completed the drive with ease, successfully reaching their goal of $40,000. Although the drive started out slowly, each second hour class set individual goals and strived to reach them. As the final days approached, their efforts proved worthwhile. Mr. Dopke and his hardworking crew raced to meet layout deadlines as the ads and contributions continued to flow in. The seniors led the school by bringing in the most money. The school plans to use this money to keep down tuition costs in upcoming years. Many thanks are in order for all who gave their time and energy to make the drive a worthwhile effort. In addition, it seems proper to offer a special thanks to S. Agnes, who raised over $7300 by herself. Thanks again to all and best wishes to continue the tradition in the years to come.

PIZZA DRIVE PEAKS IN PERFORMANCE

"When the moon hits your eye like a big pizza pie, it's amore." As exemplified by this phrase, pizza finds a meaningful place in the area of music as well as ethnic culture. Pizza, a world renown favorite among the old and young, represents that tidbit of "Italiano" found in every American and continues to gain popularity each year.

Saint Catherine's, for its tenth consecutive year, dedicated itself to continuing the task of increasing pizza production. With its unique flour-baked crust, tasty, tangy sauce, and spicy sausage, Jimm's pizzas sold with ease. Although St. Cat's fell a bit short of its goal, individual classes presented some very impressive results with the Seniors leading the pack with the most total sales. Following their example, the rest of the student body, along with faculty and friends, worked for many hours to make the drive a hit. In the process, they gained valuable experience in playing the role of a "true St. Catherine."

After a week of successful Homecoming events, the second annual bonfire ignited the enthusiasm of all students. The senior football players promoted school unity as they read their annual wills to their junior teammates. The spirit raised by the cheerleaders at the bonfire car-

CLASSES SHARE THE SPOTLIGHT OF HOMECOMING

As the anticipation of Homecoming grew, the students at SCHS banded together with their fellow classmates to make the activities sparkle and shine.

With the theme of "Sweet Dreams", students came to school depicting their special fantasies. Throughout the halls, one could see teenagers dressed up in their "jim-jams", carrying their favorite friends.

The battle between the classes turned into a grueling test of strength and endurance; since no particular class dominated the activities, each class had its moment in the spotlight.

Colors Day continued to spread the magical feeling of Homecoming. Despite the cold and dreary weather that hung over the activities, the student body thoroughly enjoyed itself, making all of Homecoming worthwhile inside and out.

and Amy Schulz stepped out in style. Ryan Fuhrman and Laura Mitchell proudly accepted the roles of the first attendants. Finally, Kim "now how about a joke, Al" Sawasky, announced the stars of the show: the king and queen . . . Andy Miller and Sharon Dziengel. # HOMECOMING FULFILLS SWEET DREAMS

The Homecoming mass staged quite an opening for this year's Homecoming events. Filled with pride and contentment, both the varsity football team and the Homecoming court sat up on the stage to be honored by the entire student body, making it a special occasion. That night, the candidates once again lined up for the Coronation ceremony. Now, hundreds of stuffed animals joined the crowd to listen in as the master of ceremonies, Kim Sawasky, introduced each of the 18 court members. This year's theme, "Sweet Dreams", provided an illustrious title for this night of celebration. The suspense thickened and excitement filled the air as everyone awaited the final results.
